

Errata

- In [VI] Table 1 subtext states: “<sup>(1)</sup> Extracted from LCR meter measurement results, calibration is done by lifting one of the whiskers”. This is not correct for the discrete SC2T6 diode. In this case the calibration is done by measuring an empty test structure and subtracting its capacitance from the capacitance of the test structure with a diode. In the text this is explained correctly.